Citizens' J.C. Election Monday

Editor's

Column

J. O. Handley was talking out of character when he told the Highlands Association last night, "If I were on the school board, I'd pay no attention to this. (Monday's Citizens' Election.) I do not expect to vote. People who vote this ballot aren't acquainted with the facts. You elected the school board. If you don't like them, you can have them resign."

Mr. Handley had no such attitude when he served on the school board. He was always willing to set aside his own convictions (one of them was a junior college district) when he felt sure they were in conflict with the wishes of the majority of the people who had elected him.

"People who vote this ballot aren't acquainted with the facts."

This paper and the Monterey paper have been carrying information about the J. C. problem in almost every issue since it arose last spring. There have been public pro and con debates before the service clubs, and a public meeting at Sunset School. Citizens have attended school board meetings. Citizens have been discussing the problem on the way to the post office and over lunch for weeks.

Carmel citizens are more informed on the J. C. questions than the voters at large in the state are on measures and amendments that appear on the ballots in every state election.

There will never be an entirely informed electorate. If we wait for such an ideal, before holding an election, we shall have to give up democracy as we know it.

As for having the school board resign—how do we know the majority of us disapprove of their stand on the junior college question until we have an election to find out what the majority wants? How do we know how the school board stands on the junior college question until they actually take action on it?

Besides, we like our school board. We're satisfied with their performance in the management of the Carmel School District's usual business. But we never intended vesting them in powers to decide on buying an interest in a junior college and making us responsible for unusual taxes, bond issues and over-ride taxes which we could not defeat in election. In our own district they have no power to tax beyond a set limit. The voters decide on bond issues. Why should we "have them resign" because a combination of circumstances puts a decision to them that belongs to us.

That the intent of the school code that we should have these powers is evident in the fact that a general Peninsula-wide election decides the issue. It is a weakness in the code that there is no provision to protect us from so unbalanced an election that our vote

Vote No Monday

For the good of Monterey Peninsula Junior College, as well as for the good of Carmel Schools, vote no in Monday's advisory question election.

If the going concern which is Monterey College under Monterey High School District ownership is dissolved and a junior college district substituted, what happens?

Under the new district administration, Monterey College loses $80,000 a year in state equalization support which must be made up by local taxes.

The over-ride tax supporting a building program now under way at the college is eliminated. A new tax or bond issue must be voted. Will the new partners in the college, burdened with the costs of buying the college plant and land and making up the loss of state aid be willing to support this building program?

New state legislation provides a substantial increase in the capital outlay portion of the tuition tax which outside school districts pay Monterey College to provide free junior college education for their students. Through this tuition tax Carmel pays more than a fair share toward new construction and operation of Monterey College. We can pay this and still maintain a lower tax rate than would be possible if we formed a new junior college district.

Why?

Because of loss of state equalization if the new district is formed, and because Monterey College can be operated more economically by the Monterey High School District than by a separate junior college district. A junior college district will cost us more and produce less for Monterey College.

And what of our own schools in the Carmel District?

Burdened with junior college district tax costs over which we have no control, would the Carmel District taxpayers have the money or the will to finance needed developments in our own schools, costs over which we do have control? Would a Monterey Peninsula Junior College District mean double sessions in Carmel schools again next year?

For the good of Monterey College, and our own schools, turn out and vote in the advisory election Monday and show the school board that Carmel is willing to support education but not vanity of possession.

Vote no.

Carmel Chest Quota $29,000; Includes The Youth Center

The 1957-58 Community Chest drive opens on October 1 with a Peninsula wide goal of $116,000. T. A. Work, Jr., general chairman, announced this week. Carmel's quota, $29,000, is $6000 greater than last year's, but the Carmel Youth Center, which was dropped from the chest agencies last year, is back again, with the promise of $6200, if Carmel makes its quota. The Youth Center will not put on a drive of its own, as last year.

Carmel area will include Hatton Fields, the Point, and Carmel Woods, in addition to Carmel City. Clifford Cook, publisher of the Pine Cone, is overall chairman for the Carmel area; Lew Earl McCreery, chairman of the business district; Mrs. Stafford Hughes and Mrs. G. W. C. Whiting, of the residence district.

Volunteers are needed to assist with the drive, especially for door to door canvassing in the residence district, Mr. Cook says. Anyone wishing to help should call Mrs. Hughes, FR 2-2742.

Panel Discussion On J. C. Question Tonight At Sunset

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock Carmel voters are invited to an informational panel discussion in Sunset Auditorium on whether or not Carmel shall join with Pacific Grove and Monterey to establish a Peninsula-wide junior college district, purchasing Monterey Peninsula College land and buildings.

Milton Mayer is moderator for tonight's meeting. Panel members are Stuart Mitchell, Carmel Superintendent of Schools; either tax expert Jim Thompson of the county superintendent of schools' office or County Superintendent of Schools Gladys Stone; Mrs. Alphonse Elsen representing the League of Women Voters which made a report favoring the peninsula college district; Gordon Campbell, board chairman of Carmel Unified School District; and J. O. Handley of the citizens' advisory committee to the school board which advocated establishing the junior college district.

BY WILMA COOK

You have reason to be very proud when you vote Monday in the advisory question election on the junior college issue, at Sunset School, polls open from 7:00 to 7:00 o'clock. You can feel that your vote is an exceptional affirmation of the desire of American citizens to participate in their own government.

It is exceptional because this is not an election called for you by the usual governing bodies. It is an election called by some of you, yourselves, citizens who have taken this unusual way to provide you with a chance to vote on an issue of serious tax importance on which otherwise you would not have an opportunity for effective expression. It is an effort to compensate for a failure in the state school code to provide for a contingency such as ours.

Planning Board Spells It Out For City Council

A committee of five planning commission members will meet on Saturday morning to prepare a statement for the city council explaining why they want an amendment to the interim zoning ordinance spelling out a 4-6 formula of land use in both C-1 and C-2 zones.

The 4-6 would provide that 400 square feet of each 1000 square feet of building site shall be reserved for parking and landscaping, building area to be restricted to 600 square feet. This applies only to multiple dwelling uses (hotels and motels).

At a joint meeting of the council and planning commission last week the council thought that such detailed restrictions did not belong in an interim ordinance. They favored giving the planning commission discretionary powers in-

Under most conditions the section governing junior college elections is adequate. If ours were a question of annexation, Carmel and Pacific Grove wishing to join an existing junior college district, (say Monterey), Carmel, Pacific Grove and Monterey would each vote separately. But Monterey Peninsula Junior College is not a junior college district. It is a part of the Monterey High School District. Obviously we cannot vote to join the Monterey High School District unless we wished to merge our high schools, too. So our situation is one of forming a new junior college district of Monterey.

Handley And Norberg Debate Junior College Issue For Highlands Assn.

"If I were on the school board, I'd pay no attention to this," J. O. Handley told the Highlands Association last night. He was referring to next Monday's advisory election on the junior college question, sponsored by the Carmel Taxpayers Association.

"You'll receive sample ballots tomorrow or next day with pro and con arguments. I'm the author of the positive side. I don't expect to vote. People who vote this ballot aren't acquainted with facts. You elected the school board. If you don't like them, you can have them resign."

He spoke of costs of remaining out of the proposed district vs. joining. If Carmel joins the tax rate will be 46 cents plus bond issues for new construction and plant purchase, he said. "It will average 60 cents a year over the next five years. If we stay out the tax rate will be 44 cents. If costs go up, it will be more. There is a limit to the tax rate if we join; there is no limit if we stay out."

It has been said that Monterey is trying to sell us a white elephant," he continued. "Monterey high school board had made a wonderful proposition for us (in the price the new district would pay for Monterey Peninsula College land and buildings.) It will cost us no more today than it would have cost us if we had gone in in 1947 when Monterey High School district invited Pacific Grove and Carmel to join them in establishing the college and they had refused."

"If we go in, in five years we'll have a share in a five million dollar campus."

"I'd like to help Monterey help itself by not uniting with Carmel and Pacific Grove." Gunnar Norberg said last night before the Highlands Association in presenting the arguments against the proposed junior college district.

"Whether the junior college district is formed or not the educational situation as such will be the same," he continued. "Maybe worse."

If the new district is formed the junior college loses the state equalization aid it now receives as part of the Monterey High School District. "For every four dollars spent for operation of the college, the state contributes one dollar." This year, state assistance totalled $80,000. "This goes out the window," if the new district is formed, and "the taxpayers of the district have to make it up." Since equalization aid is for operating expenses, "Monterey College may find itself with classrooms without teachers," if the new district found itself so burdened with capital outlay and plant purchase costs that it would balk at additional over-ride taxes.

Speaking of the cost to Carmel School District of remaining out or joining, he said, "We are now, have in the past and will in the future help pay for Monterey Junior College, more than our share. We are not abandoning this college." And he explained that the new capital outlay bill means we shall pay more in tuition tax for our students attending Monterey Junior College than formerly if we remain out, between 35-40 cents. If we join, "we'll pay 46-59."

WEST WINS CCAL FOOTBALL JAMBOREE AT SALINAS

The West team consisting of San Lorenzo Valley, Gonzales, Pacific Grove, Carmel, Santa Cruz, and Salinas put together five touchdowns and one successful conversion to whip the East team, 31 to 19, in a highly successful CCAL Football Jamboree at the Salinas High Stadium last Friday night. Played before a packed stadium, the 1957 Jamboree was an improvement over any other Jamboree ever held by the local prep league. Games were started on time, the play was hard, fast, and interesting, the spirit of sportsmanship was excellent, and the rooting sections were all superb. Big offensive guns for the winning West team were the hard-hitting varsities of Gonzales and Salinas High Schools. The Spartans, moving in midseason form, pushed across two touchdowns against the stubborn Gilroy Mustangs while Salinas proved to be a real surprise team by handling the strong Watsonville Wildcats in easy fashion. The Cowboys scored twice against the Wildcats and established themselves as solid contenders for the A-division crown. Monterey appeared to be the best of the East teams, scoring once against the favored Santa Cruz Cardinals and playing superior football throughout the short game. Claude Crabb, Monterey's prize quarterback, looked to be the outstanding player of the Jamboree with his brilliant running, passing, and play calling. Injured most of last season, the swift senior appears to be in top shape again this year and should be the answer to a winning season for the Toreadores.

Pacific Grove, Carmel's arch-rival in the B-division, showed a surprisingly good backfield combination which knocked off huge chunks of yardage against the big King City team. Sparked by quarterback Edison who showed the best passing arm in the Jamboree, the Breakers put together a 70-yard march to furnish a six-point-er for the West team.

The Carmel Padres and the Hollister Haybalers battled to a scoreless deadlock in their fifteen minutes of action with the Haybalers having a big offensive edge due to a pair of long forward passes. Bright spot of the Padres' performance in the abbreviated game was the stellar defensive line play of Captain Joe Mason, Al Baker, Phil Durbrow, Norman Colman, and Steve Gann. These stalwarts completely throttled the vaunted Haybaler running attack and forced the Red & White squad to put the ball in the air. Ted Smith, Carmel's ball-hawking safetyman, intercepted three Haybaler passes and was easily the defensive stand-out of the Jamboree.

CARMEL ROOTING SECTION WINS JAMBOREE TROPHY

Long noted for a school with excellent sportsmanship and fine student body spirit, Carmel High was accorded another honor last Friday night at the Coast Counties Athletic League Football Jamboree when the Red & Gray rooting section won the trophy for the outstanding rooting section of the Jamboree. Smallest in number but greatest in spirit, the Padre rooters presented a very well-organized section which showed plenty of zip, spirit, and initiative throughout the entire Jamboree. All the rooting sections put on superb performances and it was a great honor for the Carmel group to be adjudged the winner. Led by cheerleaders Brenda Buerger, Sue Mosolf, and Wendy Draper and songleaders Irene Fernandez, Heather Hamilton, Connie O'Connor, and Hilary Teague, the peppy Padre rooting section will be a big lift for Carmel High's football squads in 1957 play.

PADRE FOOTBALL SQUADS AT GUSTINE FRIDAY NIGHT

With four arduous weeks of practice behind them, Carmel High's varsity and junior-varsity football squads get a taste of the real thing Friday night when they journey to the San Joaquin Valley for a non-league joust with the always-tough Gustine Indians. Touted as one of the top teams in the San Joaquin Valley this season, Gustine has a record turnout of 90 players. Scout reports indicate the Indians have a line which averages close to 190 pounds and a backfield equipped with better than average speed. Coach Rennell Franca's lads will be steamed up to win this one as the Padres have clipped the Indians for the last two years and the Gustine citizens are anxious to turn the tables in tomorrow night's fracas.

For the first time in several years, the junior-varsity squads of the two schools will mix it up in a preliminary tilt. This will be the first squad action for Coach Rainer's jayvee gang and the first game action for many of the players on the team. The current junior-varsity edition is short on experience but long on enthusiasm and will be anxious to match the excellent records established by the jayvee squads during the past two seasons. Losers of only two games in the last two years, Coach Rainer's teams have become the scourge of the CCAL B-division and are ranked number one again this season.

There is no line available on the Gustine Papooses but out of a sixty-man squad there are sure

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

You may have heard the one about the small boy who asked a librarian for a book about rabbits. When he returned it to the library, she asked him if he enjoyed the book. He said no, because it told him more about rabbits than he really wanted to know. Our first book today may tell you more than you want to know, because its title is 1001 Questions Answered About the Seashore. The Berrells wrote it and provided it with a good index. If you find yourself swamped with information, turn to the index and read only what you want to know.

A book on tree care, and called that, was written by John Haller. It is illustrated with both photographs and drawings, and it seems complete and informative. A village of tree enthusiasts should find much use for this book.

Dedicated "To the men whose industry wakes their neighbors on Sunday morning" is a new book on a variety of things mechanical. It is called Machinery Around Your Country Home. Some of the information here is really for farms and ranches but much of it is designed to help the person living on a small acreage or even a big city lot. Anyone with the machinery for getting a job done will find helpful information in this book by Herb Nichols.

The son of Lafcadio Hearn has written ten books about his famous father, including unpublished materials found after Lafcadio Hearn's death. The last of these is called Re-Echo. It is a beautiful, delicate book containing a variety of things, some written by the father and some by the son, Kazuo Hearn Koizumi.

Alan Villiers is familiar to many of us since his recent appearances on television. His latest book tells of the North Atlantic, of what is known of its turbulent history and the brave men who sailed over it. Included here is the account of the voyage of the Mayflower II which Villiers captained.

Walter Schellenberg was chief of Hitler's Secret Service. His book, The Labyrinth, is not only a story of the workings of the German Secret Service but an insight into the late war and into secret service work everywhere. As usual, he is said to have joined the Nazi party as a career rather than from conviction as to its rightness. It now seems that Hitler's army and staff must have been made up from men who were never convinced as to Nazism, hindsight being the prudent thing it is.

William Sargant is an English doctor in charge of the department of psychological medicine in one of England's oldest medical schools. His new book Battle for the Mind discusses not only brainwashing, but also the methods by which evangelists, politicians, and psychiatrists, can change your mind, make you believe as they wish you to, and act according to your changed beliefs.

The Charles Allen Smarts retired to Mexico, living in comfort on a small retirement income. Since living in comfort on a small retirement income is what most of us are hoping to be able to do some day, the new book by Charles Smarts may be just what we need. The title of the book is At Home in Mexico.

A new addition to the Edna Maris Owings collection is entitled On the Trail of Vanishing Birds and was written by Robert Allen who is a research director for the National Audubon Society. In another week we shall have two more books ready for the Owings collection, one on arctic birds and one on sea birds. We are very proud of this fine collection of bird books given in memory of Miss Owings.

A real need may be met by the book Educating Spastic Children by Eleanor Schonell. This book is designed to help not only teachers and medical people working with the spastic, but parents of spastic children as well. It is illustrated with photographs.

One of the reasons people avidly turn the pages of The New Yorker is the fact that Peter Arno's cartoons are a regular feature of the magazine. His latest collection is entitled Hell of a Way to Run a Railroad, and is largely reprinted from the New Yorker.

Mission to Paradise, the story of Junipero Serra and the Missions of California is by Kenneth King. This is a biography of Father Serra and a history of the building of the missions. There are some illustrations, which show a few of the missions but San Carlos Borromeo is not included among them. The book was printed in Great Britain.

There are six new novels, two of which are mysteries. One day last week we charged out 781 books. It left us breathless but smiling. Nice, eh?

Avery Matheson

Avery Almon Matheson died on Monday morning in his home at Camino Real and Thirteenth Avenue, after a long period of failing health.

Mr. Matheson was born on April 22, 1877, in Canada at Woods Harbor, Nova Scotia. He was an executive of the Anso Corporation in Binghamton, New York, before he retired many years ago. Four years ago he came to Carmel to live.

A life member of the Hyatt Lodge 205, F & A M of Brooklyn, New York, Mr. Matheson also belonged to the Maine Consistory, STRS, 32nd degree, Scottish Rite, AASR, Valley of Portland, Maine; the ANAH Shrine Temple, Bangor, Maine; and Eastern Star, Lodge of Perfection, Palestine Council, Bangor chapter of Bangor, Maine.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Helene Koelling Matheson of Carmel; a daughter, Mrs. Vivien M. Zellhoefer of Carmel Highlands; three grandchildren, John W., Joan Judith and Jerry Zellhoefer of the Highlands; a sister and a nephew, Dan Matheson, living in Nova Scotia.

Private funeral services were held on Tuesday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea in Pacific Grove. Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Joseph E. Partello

Colonel Joseph K. Partello died unexpectedly in his sleep on September 11 in San Francisco where he had gone for a holiday.

He was born in Washington, D. C., on October 18, 1879, while his father was an officer with old Fifth Infantry. He enlisted in the Army at the age of 20. He served as lieutenant in the Fifth Infantry, and later was its commanding officer, a command also held by his father, Colonel J. M. T. Partello.

Before retiring to live in Carmel 19 years ago, Colonel Partello was stationed with the Ninth Corps Area at the Presidio of San Francisco.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Josephine O'Brien Partello of Carmel; a daughter, Elizabeth Partello Peyton, wife of Colonel Hamilton Peyton of Fort Sheridan, Illinois; three grandchildren, Jeannie, John and Thomas Peyton of Fort Sheridan; and his sister, Mrs. George Washington Stuart of Carmel.

Requiem Mass was celebrated on September 13 in the Chapel of Our Lady, Presidio of San Francisco, followed by burial in the Military Cemetery at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Carmel Celebrates Symphony Day Wed.

Symphony Day is Wednesday, representatives of Carmel organizations will circulate throughout the city telling residents about the twelfth season of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra. It is also the day when season tickets are available to the public. Last year's season ticket holders have until Wednesday to renew their subscriptions and retain the seats of their choice.

Members of Carmel civic groups, service clubs, women's organizations (social and political) and the PTA meet on Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Peter Dyer and on Tuesday morning at the same time at the home of Mrs. Marcia Hart for Symphony Day send-off talks by symphony association board members. Similar meetings are also being held in Monterey, Pacific Grove and Salinas.

Gregory Millar will again be orchestra director with Francesco Mazzi, violinist of the San Francisco Symphony as concertmaster. Players are being recruited from throughout the county. A potluck dinner in Carmel High School for all new and former orchestra members will be held on Monday night. Those wishing to play with the orchestra this season are asked to telephone orchestra manager Joseph Axup at FR 5-8468 to arrange for auditions. First rehearsal is September 30.

Soloists for the twelfth season of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra are Miss Anahid Ajemian, brilliant young New York violinist; pianist Karl Schnabel, James Schwabacher, Bach Festival tenor; and William Masalas pianist from New York.

Free children's concerts will be given again on the Peninsula and in Salinas. The December concert of the Orchestra will be in the auditorium of the United States Naval Postgraduate School and the orchestra will also appear as guest attraction for the Salinas Concert Association in addition to regular concerts given in Salinas and Carmel.

First concert in the Monterey Peninsula series is in Sunset Auditorium on November 4. On December 16 the second concert is to be at the Naval Postgraduate School. The third concert is on February 10 and the fourth on April 14, both in Carmel.

Ticket renewals may be sent to Box 3851, Carmel, addressed to the Monterey County Symphony Association. Information may be obtained by telephoning the Symphony Association office, FRontier 3-1107.

Woman's Club Season Programs

Programs to be given at the general monthly meetings of the Carmel Woman's Club this season are as follows:

Dr. William G. Campbell, world-traveler, educator and writer will speak at the first meeting October 7. His subject will be Indo-China, a travelogue motion picture lecture. In November the club will hear John Bettley, British humorist and lecturer. The special Christmas program will be by Muriel Donnellan, harpist, and Beatrice Crall, narrator.

To begin the new year, there will be a color film lecture by Phil Walker on Romantic Old New Orleans. In February, Dr. Alonzo Baker will speak of America's Place in World Affairs. Everett Noonan, in March, will bring The Theater Parade, Broadway in Review. Paul and Marion Noonan will return this year to give a program on the question, Would You Join the Communist Party for our FBI? The climax for the year will be Lorita Baker Vallely, distinguished analyst on world affairs and current literature, who will turn the Spotlight on Our World Today. The closing meeting will be election of officers for the years 1958-1959.

Harry Warren Scores in Lightnin' At First Theatre

By Carolyn Elstob

Three artists of outstanding talent won the enthusiastic applause of the audience and carried the show at the First Theatre's opening performance of Lightnin' last Friday night.

Harry Warren, in the title role of this comedy of borders, boarders, and gay divorcees, all tangled in romance and high finance, was, as the lovable old soak Lightnin' Bill Jenkins, a character of unforgettable pathos and homespun humor.

That Mr. Warren had played the role professionally for three years, touring Canada in the early '20's was evidenced in his complete ease and domination of the play. He took his audience into his confidence with his first entrance, and whether you approved of the rascal or not, you loved him, to the final curtain.

Second stand-out in performance, Eunice Bosson, as the fetching dimwitted 5-a-day dancer in the search of "freedom" from husband No. 1 and simpering her way into arms of No. 2, was hilarious and delightful. Her beauty, charm and talent, plus Rhea Diveley's expert direction, completely won the audience.

The story of Lightnin' takes place in Bill Jenkins' Inn with the California-Nevada State Line running right through the center of the lobby. There's the vinegary sheriff (played with excellence by John Sullivan) whose prey is always one step ahead across the border to safety. Scheming lawyers and land operators without conscience abound, doing their dastardly utmost to wrench the home from the trusting Mrs. Jenkins. There are all sorts of love affairs, young romance in plenty, plus diverting divorce angles.

Mrs. Diveley, in selecting from local talent a cast of fifteen highly diversified characters and bringing convincing characterizations to the First Theatre stage has again proved her talent and untiring attention to detail and stage technique.

The Ollo (vaudeville) that followed brought forth still more talent. Always fun, the current acts, including the famed Floradora Sextette, are varied and exceedingly well balanced. The Sextette, staged by C. C. Robinson, member of the original, is a nostalgic delight, beautifully performed and costumed.

Top honors as an artist should go to Patsy Ramsey whose polished dancing and miming in two solo numbers won salvos of applause. And Eunice Bosson's interpretation of Fannie Brice's, I'm an Indian, had everyone rocking with laughter.

The cast of Lightnin' includes: James Brescoll as Oscar Nelson; John Sullivan as Sheriff Nevin Blodgett; Robert Tichnor as John Marvin; David Schoenbrod as Rodney Harper; Harry Warren as Lightnin'; Beatrice Testa as Mrs. Starr; Norma Randall as Emily Jarvis; Arlene Brown as Mildred Buckley; Dayton Benjamin as Raymond Thomas; Luisa Bane as Mrs. Jones. Also, Lewis Melton as Lemuel Townsend; William Bryant as Jim, the Liveryman; Francis Criswell as Everett Hammond; Betty Trahan as Mrs. Harper and Eunice Bosson as Mrs. Margaret Davis.

The Ollo Master of Ceremonies was Dayton Benjamin and in addition to the Lightnin' cast participating in the after-acts were Nancy Cook and Patsy Ramsey.

The costumes, designed and executed by Rhoda Johnson deserve honorable mention, particularly the color harmonies created by the lovely dresses worn throughout the evening. Charles Thomas is to be congratulated upon the sets, particularly the court-room where with the full cast on stage Mr. Thomas managed to create a feeling of space, no mean feat in the antiquated little theatre. Susan Lee at the piano is a veritable dynamo, and a paragon in her repertoire of old favorites. Lighting by Kay Knudsen was most effective. Stage manager, James Brescoll; properties William Bryant; librarian, Marguerite Criswell.

James Hagerty

Dr. James Hagerty, professor of philosophy and aesthetics at St. Mary's College, and a summer visitor to Carmel for over 20 years, died on September 11 in St. Francis Hospital in San Francisco after an illness of several months. Dr. Hagerty was on a two years' leave from his teaching duties for special curriculum study sponsored by a Rosenberg Foundation grant.

He had been a member of St. Mary's College faculty since 1920, and from 1935 to 1948 served as dean of the School of Arts and Letters. Dr. Hagerty was a member of the American Catholic Philosophical Association, the Catholic Conference on Intellectual and Cultural Affairs and the Great Books Foundation. He edited the Moraga Quarterly from 1930 to 1941 and in 1953 became editor of The New Scholasticism. Three years ago Dr. Hagerty sponsored the foundation of the Monterey Institute of Foreign Affairs and served on the advisory board of the Institute.

Rosary was recited on Thursday and Friday evenings of last week at the McAvoy and O'Hara Mortuary in San Francisco. Requiem Mass was celebrated on Saturday morning in St. Anne's Church in San Francisco. Another Requiem Mass was sung on Friday morning in the Blessed Sacrament Chapel at Carmel Mission.

Ruth Beckford Haitian Dancers Here October 12

Ruth Beckford and her Haitian Dancers and Drummers will make their Carmel debut in a concert at Sunset Auditorium October 12, featuring authentic folklore and rituals to percussion and flute accompaniment, sponsored by the International Concert Guild, which introduced Yma Sumac, Devi Dja, Carlos Montoya and other noted artists to the Peninsula public. This is a presentation of Mary Jane Smithback and Arlene Turi, local managers.

Troupe of fourteen comes here directly from the Marines' Memorial Theatre, San Francisco, where they make their debut on Thursday evening, October 10.

At Sunset Auditorium they will perform Loa Ezilee, new work from the Theatre de Verdure in Port-au-Prince; Tambours Jacmel, a new drum fantasy; Afrique, a three-part primitive suite; Petro, a voodoo ceremonial; Belaire, a village parranda; Causerie Gonaives, a drum conversation, and

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves,
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

FEDERATION OF WESTERN OUTDOOR CLUBS

Each year over the Labor Day week end the annual meeting of the Federation of Western Outdoor Clubs is held at some place in the West. This year it was held at Cazadero State Park near Monte Rio in the Russian River country 85 miles northwest of San Francisco. About 270 delegates and members from Spokane and Seattle to southern California attended. There are now 35 out-of-door and conservation clubs belonging to the Federation, ranging from the 12,000 member Sierra Club to a few small organizations of 40 or 50 members.

The Federation was organized in 1932 and I have watched it grow from a small gathering of a few enthusiasts to its present impressive attendance. Its influence on national legislation has increased rapidly in recent years. In 1952 I represented it at the House and Senate hearings on the stockmen's land grab bill, one of the first successes of the united conservation groups of the country. Since then it has played an important part in defeating Echo Park dam in Dinosaur National Monument and in blocking Bruce's Eddy dam in Idaho's Clearwater Basin, two outstandingly successful efforts.

The Host Club this year was the Contra Costa Hills Club of Oakland. Their committee did a remarkable job of organizing and managing the three day convention. The setting was in a primeval redwood grove beside a small stream that had been dammed for boating and swimming. Here the City of Berkeley has a recreation camp and the Federation enjoyed the use of their facilities, following the end of their regular season.

The main business of these annual conventions is holding discussion sessions on conservation matters of national interest, though there are also recreation features. Many national leaders are usually present for this purpose. Mr. Elvind Scoyen, Associate Director of the National Park Service, came from Washington to attend the meeting, as did Mr. Fred Packard, Executive Secretary of the National Parks Association. Mr. Packard later accompanied me and Joe Carithers, my Assistant, on a two day visit to Carmel.

Mr. Scoyen and representatives of the U.S. Forest Service and the State Division of Beaches and Parks addressed the convention, as did other specially invited speakers, but the real work of the convention was done by the Resolutions Committee. Dr. Harold C. Bradley, who is at present President of the Sierra Club, headed this committee. It was in session almost continuously from Friday afternoon to the time of its report on Monday morning.

A list of the resolutions passed will be published later. Most of them cover matters previously reported on in these columns. Perhaps the outstanding one was a resolution of censure of the U.S. Forest Service for its decision in removing 53,000 acres from the Three Sisters Wilderness Area in Oregon and turning it over to the loggers. This was announced last February and has been the subject of more than one of these columns.

The President of the Federation for the last two years has been Dr. Karl W. Onthank of the University of Oregon. Living in Eugene, as he does, he has taken a particularly intelligent and effective interest in the Three Sisters controversy. The new President is Mrs. Pauline Dyer of Auburn, Washington. Polly, as she is known in conservation circles, is the first woman to be elected to this position. Judging from her past record she will do a fine job of carrying on the Federation work.

The Time Has Come .

by Kippy Stuart

A venerable philosopher came to my garden this week, an old friend from London, England. Thirty years ago I had the privilege of being a guest in his garden, and at that time, my friend James, was in the first throes of landscaping. His was precision gardening, with science the base of his youthful knowledge. His enthusiasm was all for the patterned garden, the sprays, the insecticides, ever searching for new scientific garden discoveries.

At that time I was in my "salad days", an eager neophyte and I learned much from my friend James' studies. When I heard that he was coming to Carmel, I did a "quickie" with my garden (... you know like you do in housekeeping when the unexpected guest is imminent ... and you brush stuff under the carpet.) I refreshed myself on all the new scientific gadgets and hoped that I would be ready to talk his language. I was all primed to appear as intelligent as it was possible for me to be.

Thirty years is a long stretch between friends and I suppose, actually, I was already to "show off" all my new knowledge. I started pointing here and there in my garden ... that was a new hybrid ... over there in that corner was a remarkable graft ... on, on ... far into the night ... I found myself spouting like a text book. James remained perfectly silent and finally he shook his head and remarked, "Kippy, it is a shame, but you have never seen your garden." That stumped me and I shushed, and my venerable philosopher took the floor. He said, "My friend, it takes many years for a professional gardener to see the forest for the trees. Here, you have before you a galaxy of color, a charming spot brought to life by your own ingenuity, yet you are so engrossed in accomplishment that you fail to see or enjoy the very thing you have created. Enough talk about sprays and this-and-that. A garden is a place, in which to relax, to find spiritual peace and to allow Nature to speak to us. How long has it been since you sat quietly in this patio and enjoyed what you have accomplished? This lovely spot is not of your doing, but the Lord's creation. A garden is a prayer, and while the setting is the artist's, the accomplishment is the Creator's."

My friend James went on to advise that I look into the heart of that so-called weed, growing where it had been placed by some stray breeze. He touched that weed as though it were a rare flower. He remarked on the texture of that loquat tree with its massive foliage gently touching a slender bamboo. I had to acknowledge it, never before had I seen my garden as a whole; never before had I sat quietly and thanked

Nature and the Creator for giving me the privilege of assembling beauty.

James and I sat in silence for a very long time and finally he spoke, using the words of Rabindranath Tagore's poem, "Stray Birds."

"Be still my heart,
A great tree is a prayer."

How we gear telephone service to protect your family in emergencies. To guard essential phone services against emergencies of all kinds, telephone people plan ahead continually. Here are some of the things we're doing: We're completing alternate communications routes around key cities. And most main cables are now underground. They could withstand a terrific battering. Phone buildings are widely scattered and built extra strong. They are among the sturdiest standing. But were a vital link knocked out, we have plans ready for quickly restoring essential services. And within the company we've set up alternates for key jobs. We test these precautions often. As needs change, we change with them. For we want to be sure communications vital to your safety are ready if they're needed.

Are you longing for Far-Away Places with Strange Sounding Names?

Do you wish that instead of Ocean Avenue you were walking down Bubbling Wall Road in Peking (with the consent of the State Department, of course!). That you were window shopping on the Rue de la Paix instead of just at 6th and Dolores? Do you wish you were in Morocco or Siam or Florence or Hong Kong instead of here?

Well—go if you can. But if you can't, explore Carmel for its touch of the world scene: Fashions inspired by Paris; jade, china and teak from the Orient; imports from India, South America, Mexico and almost any other Continent you can name. Then Carmel shops can give you the sound of more exotic lands with recorded music; their fragrances... with perfume, scents; real and make-believe flowers; their flavor with a wide diversity of food from many lands.

ORDINANCE NO. 239 N. S.

ORDINANCE AMENDING SECTION 971, DIVISION III, PART 10, OF THE ORDINANCE CODE OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, RELATING TO PERMITS FOR TREE REMOVAL.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. That Section 971 of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea be amended to read as follows:

"Section 971. No such permit shall be issued unless and until an application therefor shall have been filed and the sum of Ten Dollars ($10.00) shall have been deposited with the City Clerk of said City, to be used for the planting of trees, bushes and shrubs in the public streets, ways, parks or park strips of said City. Such permit shall be non-transferrable, and shall expire one (1) year from the date of its issuance. In the event that said permit is obtained by applicant in order to enable said applicant to carry out some project of development or improvement of applicant's property, then such permit shall authorize the cutting, destroying or removal of such tree, bush or shrub in connection with the actual accomplishment of said project of development or improvement, and in no other case.

Section 2. EFFECTIVE DATE: This Ordinance shall take effect thirty (30) days after its final passage and approval.

THROUGH THE DARK CRYSTAL

through the veil gardenias rise, glide and rise-like forgotten thoughts tossed on crystal-flector of a sea.

sundown and the waters, and yesterday gathers the light—gathers the irresistible colors of sky and sea, and sunset.

and a grey fog rolls over ... sight cannot see what may be the curve of then,
the shape of future.

only the scent of sea comes,
the salty sea,
and thought forms

through the veil, through the crystal glass:
a sunrise,
and gardenias,
white gardenias floating sunset ... sunrise ... endlessly.

—VERA LA CLAUSTR

AT AN ALTAR

Self—a suffering bird released—
fleeing damp darkness of caverned error:
I stretch wings and preen dignity
upon your broadshouldered freedom and sing clearly unashamed at your feet.

—E. W. NORTHNAGEL.

FARALLONES AT DUSK

Of ancient wrecks, your crags arise;
Their lone light burns against the skies,
Uniting seas of foam and stars.

The tide smites on it roll to shore
Your barren, kelp-engirded peaks,
Where in the gale the white gull shrieks
Above the huge sea lion's roar.

I understand how Drake the Bold
Was drawn to scale your perilous side,
If gazing west at dusk he spied
Your sable crags against the gold.

—WALDEN GARRATT.

SKY STENCIL

I fold and wrap the sky about me,
Fabric tapped and marked with tree and god,
With black of lava,
Gold flaked from the sun.
Swing, tree, on a hammock of air
For the god who rules interstices of blue.

—MARGARET LEWIS ALBANESE.

Dean Litts Wins Trip East

Pebble Beach Chevron dealer Dean Litts is winner of a sales contest conducted in this area and has been awarded a trip for himself and Mrs. Litts to New York City and Newark, New Jersey.

The Litts, who live in Carmel, will fly to San Francisco on Monday to be guests at a dinner for other Chevron sales contest winners from the seven western states. The next day they will tour the Standard Oil Company refinery at Richmond, and on Wednesday, leave San Francisco by air for New York, planning to visit other Eastern cities before they return home.

New Cancer Society Officers

Dr. Joseph J. Shebl of Salinas is the new president of the Monterey County branch of the American Cancer Society. Also elected on Tuesday evening were vice-presidents Mrs. Alan G. Pattee of Corral de Tierra and H. William Monroe of Carmel. Mrs. Frederick Stanley of Carmel is secretary. New members elected to the executive committee are Mrs. Arthur Hately, Jr., of Pebble Beach, Mrs. Rody Holt of Carmel Valley, Colden O. Whitman of Carmel and Frank E. Wiebe, M. D., of Salinas.

Betty Likes Being A Woman

Writer Betty MacDonald of Carmel Valley tells why she likes being a woman in the October issue of Ladies Home Journal. The author of The Egg and I and other humorous books is one of 12 other women, outstanding in a variety of fields, who expressed their feelings on the special awards of womanhood to beauty editor Dawn Crowell Norman of the Journal.

Mary Alice Graves Married

The marriage of Mary Alice Graves to Ralph Augustus Herrera took place on September 7 in the Church of the Wayfarer with Dr. K. Fillmore Gray performing the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Bruner Graves of Carmel and the late Francis Gibbons Graves. The groom's parents are Mrs. Josephine Herrera of New York City and Donatello Herrera of Forest Hills, New York, an economic affairs officer at the United Nations.

The young couple met when both were students at High Mowing School in New Hampshire, and their wedding brought to Carmel eight graduates of the school.

Mary Alice attended Sunset and Carmel High schools before going to High Mowing. She is a graduate of Katharine Gibbs Secretarial School in New York and also studied at Scripps College. For the past year she has been living in San Francisco, working in the trust department of the Bank of California.

Ralph studied at Rutgers University, served with the Army in Europe, and is now a student at Pace College in New York City. They will live in Jackson Heights, New York.

Mary Alice was given in marriage by Frank Davie of Los Angeles, a family friend. She wore a gown of white silk organza over blue taffeta and carried a colonial bouquet of bouvardia and pink roses, and a lace handkerchief in a holder which belonged to her great-grandmother. Her sisters, Mrs. Joseph Beard of El Cerrito and Elizabeth Graves of Carmel, and her niece Jewel Beard were her attendants.

Joseph Beard was best man for the groom. Ushers were Lieutenant Thomas G. Wetzl, brother-in-law of the groom from Bryan, Texas, and Harlan Marcus of Berkeley.

The reception following the wedding ceremony was held at the home of the bride's mother in Carmel.

Porters Have New Daughter

Marty Sue Porter, born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on September 4, is the third child of Lieutenant and Mrs. Charles S. Porter of Mission Fields. Her sister is Jill, four years old, and her brother is Jack, three.

Marty Sue's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Clark of Oakland and Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Porter of Omaha, Nebraska. Mrs. Porter has been here since before her new granddaughter's birth and on October 20 expects to be joined by her husband. About the first of November they will both return to Omaha.

Mrs. Gilbey Built English Motel

"I think I built the only motel in England during my two years stay there," says Mrs. Jessica Gilbey who has just returned to Carmel.

Realizing that England needed motels, Mrs. Gilbey decided to build a two unit one adjacent to her home in Chichester, Sussex, as an experiment. American in principle, the two units are at present "permanent lets" to business people.

Besides her building project Mrs. Gilbey attended the Edinburgh Music Festival in 1956, took hiking trips about England, and painting trips to Somerset and on the continent in Holland.

Her return trip across the United States completed six round trips from Carmel to England for Mrs. Gilbey. This time she visited Taos, New Mexico, on her way home, explored mountains around Denver and saw the Grand Canyon, covering 5,000 miles in all.

Mrs. Gilbey expects to stay here for a year and is living at Camino Real and Tenth Streets.

Harry Dusty Scheid Born

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Scheid's fourth child and third son has been named Harry Dusty. He was born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on August 29 and is three weeks old today. His brothers are Gregory, 12, and Dana, 10. His sister Joshlyn is three years old.

Harry's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Thomas of Palm Springs and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Novotney of Alhambra.

"They've all been here to see Harry Dusty," reports Mrs. Scheid.

Parties For Barbara

Barbara Tibbetts, whose marriage to Dennis Narvaez is to be on Saturday afternoon in Carmel Mission, has been guest of honor at several pre-wedding parties. Among those who have had showers for the bride-elect are Mrs. Richard Zimmerman, Mrs. Clarence Castro, Mrs. Terry Wilkinson and Mrs. Paul Artellan.

First Altar Society Meeting

The Carmel Mission Altar Society had its opening meeting on September 12 at the home of Mrs. John Francis Doud in Hutton Fields when Mrs. Doud welcomed familiar faces as well as new members with her co-hostess, Miss Ellen O'Sullivan.

After the Right Reverend Monsignor Michael D. O'Connell presented general projects to the group, Miss Genevieve Gehres, president, waived any business discussion and a social hour followed. Mrs. Harold Nichols and Mrs. Charles Dolan presided at the tea table where these members gathered: Mrs. John Frey, Mrs. Dang-aix Allen, Mrs. E. W. Roberts, Mrs. Joseph McCloskey, Mrs. Theresa Kennedy, Mrs. Helen Bourke, Mrs. Mary Gould, Mrs. S. H. Derby, Mrs. Richard Cunningham, Mrs. James Dempsey, Mrs. Norman Smith, Mrs. Frank De Amaral, Mrs. Walter Roland, Mrs. David Shipley, Mrs. Helen Palmtag, Mrs. Harry Bayley, Mrs. Rose Neupert, and Mrs. Henry Mouat of San Francisco.

McKenney's Leave For Europe

Dr. and Mrs. A. Carol McKenney with Mrs. McKenney's daughters, Gray, Robin and Wendy Burnham, left last night by plane for New York and will sail on September 27 on the Statendam for Europe to be away from Carmel until the end of January.

They land in Southampton, then go to London, where they will spend three weeks and pick up a car. After driving about England, Dr. and Mrs. McKenney and the three girls will cross the Channel to France and spend the rest of their time abroad exploring the continent.

On Sunday Wendy Burnham was guest of honor at a farewell luncheon and swimming party at Los Laureles Lodge given by Connie O'Connor, who invited Polly Gann, Lucinda Lloyd, Carla Budd, Wendy Draper and Mary Elstob.

Dorothy Holm Bride

Living in Monterey are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Olson (Dorothy Holm) who were married in the Church of the Wayfarer at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon on September 8 by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. Orley A. Holm of Carmel, wore a waltz length dress of Chantilly lace and net over white taffeta. The full net overskirt of the gown fell from a long sleeved lace bodice fastened down the back with a row of tiny taffeta covered buttons. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley centered with a white orchid.

Sheila Zanetta was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Faye Olson, sister of the groom, Colleen Farrell, Rene Vallon and Nancy Nelson. They wore chiffon over taffeta dresses similar in style with high necks ending in Vs in back and cummerbunds of the same materials as their gowns. Their shoes and chiffon hats matched their dresses and they carried carnation nosegay bouquets. The color of the maid of honor's costume was turquoise and her bouquet pink. The bridesmaids' outfits were yellow and their flowers white.

Jill Whitcomb, niece of the bride, and Charlie Nelson were ringbearers. Flowergirl was Lonnie Whitcomb, another niece of the bride. The little girls wore yellow frocks and carried baskets of white carnations.

Best man was Dan Haley and ushers were Norman Boudreau, Jan Alexander, Howard Brown and Bob Holm, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Holm attended her daughter's wedding in a rose lace dress with blue hat and accessories.

Mrs. Olson, the groom's mother, was dressed in a blue grey sheath embroidered with pink flowers. Her small grey hat was edged with the same material as her dress and her accessories were black.

The reception following the wedding was held at the home of Mrs. Ray Bohlke in Carmel where the three-tiered wedding cake was served from a table in the patio. Covering the table was an heirloom embroidered lace cloth loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Betty Wilson.

Dorothy graduated from Carmel High School last June. She is the sister of Mrs. Kent Whitcomb, whose two small daughters were members of the wedding party. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Olson of Monterey. He attended Monterey schools and Cal Poly before enrolling at Monterey Peninsula College as a business administration major this year.

Patty Berg Carmel BPWC Member

Patty Berg, number one Women's Professional Golf Association money winner, was presented with a pin on September 10 and became a member of the Carmel Business and Professional Women's Club. Miss Berg was speaker at the club's banquet that evening at the Beach Club, and, during the afternoon, held a golf clinic at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club under the sponsorship of Carmel BPWC.

The banquet at which Patty Berg received her membership pin was the Carmel club's pre-celebration of National Women's Week September 29 to October 5. Next week Carmel BPWC members will join Pacific Grove and Monterey BPWC members at a Women's Week banquet on Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock at Cerrito's on the Monterey Wharf. Reservations may be made by telephoning FR 5-4191.

Forest Theater Cast Party

Blanche Tolmie and Herbert Heron arranged a party at the Forest Theater on Saturday evening for the cast of A Midsummer Night's Dream. The bonfires burned brightly at each side of the stage vying with a brilliant harvest half-moon in giving light for the barbecue supper.

Nancy Wed. Flies To Africa

Yesterday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock Nancy Dassonville was married to Robert Louis Goss by the Reverend Harris Pillsbury in the Carmel Presbyterian Church. Today the couple left for Denver, Colorado, for a short stay before going to New York where they will take a plane for Ankara, Turkey, on September 29. After visiting in Turkey they will go to Africa and make their home in Tripoli, on the Mediterranean coast of Libya for the next two years. Mr. Goss is a geologist for American Overseas Petroleum Limited.

For her wedding Nancy wore a light grey wool dressmaker suit, a small matching feathered hat, shoes and bag of a deeper shade of grey than her suit, and a corsage of white butterfly orchids.

A wedding supper for family members was held after the ceremony at Cademartori's Restaurant.

Nancy is the daughter of Mrs. Leon Dassonville of Carmel. She graduated from Carmel High School in 1949 and continued her education at Monterey Peninsula College. She has been a stewardess for United Airlines for five years and for the past two years on flights out of Denver.

A year ago, returning by air from a vacation in Hawaii, she met her husband on the plane. He was flying back to the United States from Australia on home leave. Since that time he has lived in New York. He is the son of Mrs. Don Goss of El Cajon and a graduate of the University of Michigan.

Carole Jefferson Wed

Carole Jefferson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Jefferson of San Francisco and granddaughter of Mrs. Grace Parsons Douglas of Pebble Beach, was married to Franklin Morris Ehrhardt on Saturday afternoon in All Saints' Episcopal Church at 3:00 o'clock by the Reverend Bernard Lovgren, rector of St. John's Chapel, Del Monte. Two large bowls of white stock decorated the candlelit altar for the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a chapel length gown with a lace bodice and full net skirt. Her veil of tulle illusion fell from a pearl trimmed cap and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and butterfly orchids.

Dione Wright of Piedmont was maid of honor in an aqua lace over taffeta sheath made with a scoop neckline and sash of taffeta. Her flowers were yellow carnations.

Bridesmaids were Lois Robinson of Placerville, Joan Jugenheimer of Berkeley and Mrs. Warren Ehrhardt, sister-in-law of the groom. They were dressed alike in pink lace over taffeta sheaths and carried bouquets of pink carnations. Pearl trimmed net bands, matching their dresses, held their face veils in place.

Warren Ehrhardt was best man for his brother, and ushers were Douglas Jefferson, Thomas Stevens and Michael Milliman.

Mrs. Jefferson wore a Dior blue lace gown, embroidered with tiny pearls in circle designs, for her daughter's marriage. Her hat and accessories were champagne colored, and her corsage of white orchids.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Douglas, chose a navy blue lace dress with which she wore a pink hat and orchid corsage.

Mrs. Ehrhardt, mother of the groom, was dressed in a grey lace over pink taffeta gown, made with rounded neckline, three-quarter sleeves and a semi-full skirt. Her hat was rose colored, and her corsage of orchids.

The reception following the church service was in Mrs. Douglas' Pebble Beach home, where the reception line formed before the living room fireplace, banked with white begonias. The cake table was placed in the patio.

The bride is a graduate of Miss Burke's School in San Francisco and of the University of California, where she met the groom while taking part in sailing club activities at the university.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Ehrhardt of Oakland, is also a California graduate.

After a honeymoon in Southern California, the couple will live in Oakland until early next year, when the groom enters the Air Force as a lieutenant.

Here from New York for the wedding were the bride's aunt Mrs. Rene Varlay, Miss Alice Zecher and Mrs. Varlay's three children.

WAC Meeting, Season's Topics

The World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula is holding meetings on the second and fourth Friday of each month (except December) until next spring. First meeting of the season is September 27 at 8:00 o'clock in the evening in the Carmel High School Cafeteria. Speaker is Dr. C. Easton Rothwell, director of the Hoover Institute and Library on War, Revolution and Peace at Stanford University. The meeting is open to the public without charge.

Dr. Rothwell's topic is Toward A United Europe, an analysis of problems, pitfalls and progress. This subject in varied aspects will be the study subject for WAC for the first half of their coming season. During the second half of the year they will study Southeast Asia and the Pacific Islands, according to Fletcher Dutton, WAC program chairman.

A dinner for Dr. Rothwell will be given by WAC at 6:00 o'clock in La Playa Hotel next Friday evening preceding the year's first meeting. Reservations may be had by telephoning MA 4-6476.

New Symphony Concert Master

Francesco Mazzi, Italian-born violinist who has concertized widely in this country and Europe, has accepted the post of concert master of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra for the coming season. Now a member of the first violin section of the San Francisco Symphony and founder of the Musical Art String Quartet, Mr. Mazzi is also well-known as a brilliant soloist and teacher. He made his debut as a child prodigy in 1926, playing the Mendelssohn Concerto with the Brooklyn Symphony Orchestra, and before coming to the west coast was concertmaster of the New York Civic Orchestra with which he also appeared as soloist.

Man's God-given dominion over disease and discord will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Matter" is the Golden Text from I John (2:15): "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (381:20-21): "Think less of the enactments of mortal mind, and you will sooner grasp man's God-given dominion."

Scriptural passages will include the following from Romans (8:5): "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of Spirit."

Citizens' Junior College Election Next Monday

Carmel and Pacific Grove School Districts, the new district to purchase from Monterey High School District the college land and buildings. The state school code provides that in forming a new junior college district the school boards of each district petition the state board to call a general election. All of the districts concerned vote together. A majority of the vote of all the voters in the petitioning districts carries the election.

In cases of school districts of fairly equal voting population such an election would serve the democratic intention well enough. In our case it does not. Monterey has four votes to our one; if Carmel district voted 100 percent against the new junior college district, Carmel district would still be swept into the junior college district. So once the Carmel School Board petitions the state board to call the election, Carmel is in the district. And once Carmel is in such a district there is no provision for withdrawal.

The citizens of this district, even those favoring the proposed junior college district, feel that such power in a serious tax commitment should not rest in the hands of a five-member school board; it does not in cases of any major tax matter in our own district.

The Carmel Taxpayers Association asked the school board to call a separate election in our own district before taking the irrevocable step of petitioning the state board to call the general election, in which we would be helpless.

The board asked the assistant district attorney if they could call such an election. The attorney said no. Could the school board call an advisory election, one that would not be binding on the board, one for which the citizens themselves would finance through the Taxpayers Association. Again no.

Could the citizens themselves hold an election?

They could, or they could hold a poll on a street corner, but the board must not give it any official aid or recognition. It could not even admit that it would be influenced by the results.

The Taxpayers Association has gone ahead. They have retained an attorney who has never expressed himself pro or con on the issue to handle the details of the election. With the unofficial co-operation of the county he has obtained ballot boxes, voting booths, other election supplies, most important of all, the county precinct lists, so that nobody but registered voters in the school district will be permitted to vote. A volunteer election board will sign up the voters and tally the results. There will be both proponents and opponents on the board, and official observers from both groups. Sample ballots have been printed and mailed out with a statement in favor of the proposition written by the proponents, a statement against by the opposition. These statements came to the attorney, not to the taxpayers association. Neither party saw the other's statement.

This election will cost the Taxpayers Association $500, yet they are not conducting it. They have turned it over to former Carmel City Attorney Tom Perry, so that it will be conducted in all details as an official election, and by a disinterested person.

It is not official. The school board is not bound by its results. But they will not ignore the results. Three board members expressed regret, unofficially, over the attorney's decision that they themselves could not call an advisory question election within the district. And these three at least are sincere in wanting to know the sentiment of voters of this district on the junior college issue.

Handley And Norberg Debate J. C. Issue For Highlands Assn.

There are all sorts of estimates in between," he said, referring to the conflicting studies and the failure of the citizens' advisory committee to make an effort to reconcile them.

"One thing most of those studies didn't take into account was the $80,000 lost in equalization aid. To the 46-59 cents tax for joining must be added, 7, 8 or 9 cents.

He closed with the warning that next spring there will be a bond issue election in our own district to provide needed classrooms. If we join the junior college district, Carmel voters, committed to junior college bond issues and override taxes which they couldn't turn down in election because of Monterey's greater voting population, might defeat the bond issues they could turn down for construction in their own schools.

At the conclusion of Mr. Norberg's talk, Mr. Handley challenged Mr. Norberg's estimate of costs of remaining out. He said it would be 34 cents this year, 44 cents the year after.

CARMEL OFFICIALS GO TO LEAGUE MEETING

Representing Carmel at the League of California Cities' Conference in San Francisco on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be George Wilcox and Hugh Smith from the planning commission; William Askew, superintendent of streets; and city attorney John W. Morse and city clerk Larry Rose.

Mr. Rose, a member of the advisory committee to the state controller, will also attend pre-conference organizational meetings of this group on Sunday.

Craven Ross Engaged

Mrs. Margaret Green of Portland, Oregon, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Barbara Karen, to Craven Edwin Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross of Carmel.

Barbara has been a student at Oregon State College but is transferring this year to San Francisco State College. She is affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority.

Craven also studied at Oregon State and is now learning the insurance business in San Francisco. The couple plan to be married in Carmel next summer.

Planning Board Spells It Out For City Council

stead. Council and planning commission renew the contest on October 2.

In future, exact shade colored renderings of all proposed buildings in C-1 and C-2 zones must be submitted to the Planning Commission before a building permit is granted. Commissioners decided yesterday afternoon in their study session. These colored renderings, or a photostat copy, "defining color by word," must state what materials are to be used in the construction and the exact texture of the materials. The renderings will become the property of the commission it was also decided.

The colored rendering demand grew out of a commission misunderstanding about the word "brick" in plans for a building at Dolores and Seventh Streets.

"A Gladding McBean brick is tile," said Building Inspector Floyd Adams explaining how the manufacturer's term for the highly glazed facing on the building confused the commission.

Public hearings on applications of Fred M. Dodd to divide a parcel of land on Scenic Drive into two building lots and a similar application by Marie F. Burns for land at Santa Lucia and San Carlos Streets were adjourned to the planning commission regular meeting September 25.

Remodelling of the old Pine Cone building on Dolores Street for a dance studio and public meeting place met with the commission's approval as to use and interior modelling. The building inspector indicated plans met with his approval.

would be meaningless. The citizens' unofficial election to inform the school board how they'd vote if they had the official election that they should have, within their own district, is a sensible, democratic solution.—W. C.

Harriet Duncan Shows Autumn Fashions

Today and tomorrow Harriet Duncan will present an informal showing of new fall fashions in her shop on Sixth Street between Dolores and Lincoln. From the hours of 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock p.m. Mrs. Chase Drake of Carmel and Mrs. Ted Dietrich, a former Powers model, who now resides here with her husband and young son, will model autumn 1957 costumes in the Duncan shop.

"We will stress the new fall-winter fashion tones," Miss Duncan said. "Autumn blues, including royal and midnight blues, jade green, orange, and an unusually becoming version of autumn's popular brown, called this year, 'ember.'"

Coats, suits, cocktail and evening costumes, and day frocks, plus sweaters, skirts and street wools will be included in the Duncan shop's informal modeling today and tomorrow.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.
